

Alisha Harvey is the Director of Revenue Cycle Technical Operations at one of the largest nonprofit healthcare systems in the country. Alisha has been in the healthcare industry and management for over 20 years and has a passion for improving processes, driving efficiency, and automating where at all possible. Prior to this Alisha was a Client Services/ Operations Manager at a local revenue cycle company as well as working within the banking industry, specifically within the credit union space.

Alisha is a Colorado native and grew up tinkering with some of the first IBM computers, which led to her passion for computers and technology. Alisha briefly studied at Denver University-Women's College for Business, Law and Society until healthcare came along and became her new passion, which allowed her to use her knowledge and expertise of computers and technology while expanding her knowledge of healthcare. Alisha has been with her husband for 27 years and has a 12-year-old daughter and 14-year-old son. We love camping and being outdoors when at all possible.

I am interested in joining the MCU board as this is something brand new and there are so many opportunities to make a difference and being a normal hardworking American citizen, I would like to be part of this cooperative to help other hardworking American citizens improve their lives one step at a time. I feel with my many years of experience in Business, Banking, Technology and Healthcare I can bring some insight to what works, what doesn't work and be part of a team to make things better for our members.
