

Todd is an experienced CEO and Executive Board Member with over 20 years in the pharmaceutical sector, known for driving growth, operational excellence, and profitability. Key accomplishments include transforming PharmaNobis from a negative to positive EBITDA in under two years and leading CoreRx from a startup to a $125M company, delivering over a 10x return to investors. Expertise spans strategic leadership, business development, financial management, and product launches, with a focus on building high-performance cultures and fostering key partnerships. Todd holds an MBA in Business Management from Florida Institute of Technology and a B.S. in Chemistry & Marine Biology from Roger Williams University.

As a board member of Middle Class United, I believe I can contribute by leveraging my leadership experience in driving growth, strategic planning, and financial oversight to further MCU's mission. My background in leading successful organizations through complex challenges allows me to offer valuable insights on how to scale MCU's initiatives and innovative financing options, ensuring that we remove the financial barriers many face when pursuing home ownership.

Additionally, my experience in fostering strategic partnerships will help MCU build stronger alliances with stakeholders in the housing, financial, and nonprofit sectors, amplifying the reach and impact of our mission. I am also passionate about community involvement, and MCU's quarterly charity vote is a powerful tool for empowering members to drive meaningful change. I look forward to helping MCU not only expand its housing solutions but also grow its charitable initiatives to support critical groups like teachers, nurses, and veterans, further uplifting the middle class and strengthening the democratic nature of our giving.

Ultimately, I am excited to bring my strategic, results-driven approach to MCU's board to help build sustainable, impactful solutions that improve the lives of middle-class Americans.

I want to join the board of Middle Class United because I strongly resonate with the organization's mission of empowering the middle class and creating opportunities for home ownership. Owning a home is a key part of the American Dream, and I am passionate about working to make that dream more accessible to families across the country. The innovative approaches MCU takes—whether it's through affordable housing solutions or financing options—align with my belief in practical, results-driven strategies that create lasting change.

Moreover, MCU's commitment to direct community involvement through initiatives like the quarterly charity vote is inspiring. The democratic nature of the charity vote reflects a deep respect for the values and priorities of the very people MCU seeks to uplift, and I am eager to contribute my leadership experience to further empower these efforts. With my background in driving growth and building sustainable strategies, I believe I can help MCU amplify its impact, ensuring that more Americans benefit from the opportunities and assistance the organization provides.